ARIZONA FEDERATION OF LABOR DECIDES TO SIDETRACK POLITICS

BISBEE, Ariz., Oct. 20.—At the smoker extended by the Warren district Trade Assembly last night in honor of delegates attending the Arizona Federation of Labor convention, politics was carefully sidetracked, if expansion upon Socialistic ideas and doctrines by some of the speakers of the evening may be eliminated.

This is the result of conference among the leaders of both the Hunt and Hersley factions in the convention. Neither side felt sufficient strength on the floor, not sufficient, certainly as to the leanings of the crowd that might assemble, to venture a move. So it was that Governor Hunt was advised not to come to the smoker from Benson and that Senator Worsley went back to Tucson.

There was a large attendance from all over the district at the smoker, in the Pythian Castle. It came expecting something to drop, but in this was disappointed. The big crowd nevertheless had an enjoyable evening.

Refreshments flowed from 8 until 10:30. The character of those doubtless caused the prohibition delegate from Phoenix much pain.

President Davis of the State Federation opened the evening with extension of thanks to the locals for the reception extended. He was followed by A. Bennett, Globe delegate, who speaks at length in favor of mother's pension and old age pension laws.

Attorney John Wilson Ross followed him in impromptu remarks along the same line. Secretary Holm of the W. F. M. on behalf of the Trades Assembly extended greetings, and thanks to those who contributed to the success of the evening. Prof. E. J. Rlenboth and Charles Brown entertained with a concertina and piano duet, and Frank Watson rendered a solo. W. B. Cleary talked for 40 minutes, delivering one of his stereotyped orations, long since familiar to Arizona ears. Sheriff Harry Wheeler said he had accepted an invitation to be present with much pleasure. Kenneth Clayton, Globe delegate, talked on unionism. In none of the addresses was there new ground entered upon or reference made to convention work or plans.

During the day the convention did little. The blacklist measure did not come out of committee. Most of the time was consumed in re-discussion of previous work. The dance of the night before had left the delegates in no mood to push matters. Also there was the coming smoker to consider, and the possibilities in connection therewith. Today the convention went at things with a rush and hastened the session to a close. Unless there is merciless pruning of things business cannot be concluded tonight.

SAN FRANCISCO GAILY BEDECKED FOR THE PORTOLA FESTIVAL WHICH BEGAN WEDNESDAY

BANNERED AND BEJEWELED STREETS READY TO RECEIVE EXPLORERS, THEIR FOLLOWERS AND SEEKERS OF CARNIVAL JOYS; PROGRAMME BEGINS WITH ARRIVAL OF BALBOA AND HIS RECEPTION BY THE QUEEN, FOLLOWED BY THE GREAT PARADE; MANY FORMS OF ENTERTAINMENT ARRANGED FOR THE PORTOLA DELEGATES FROM YUMA AND OTHER COUNTIES.

(Special to the Yuma Daily Examiner) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—With streets bannered and lamp-jeweled, San Francisco was busy yesterday and last night in putting the final touches to its gala rig for the Portola Festival, which begins today in celebration of the 400 anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific ocean by Vasco Nunez de Balboa.

Never before has San Francisco, a city widely known for its carnival spirit, put on such gay dress for a fête as it has done for the coming big Portola frolic.

The city has eclipsed all previous effects in decorations and illuminations, and was vibrant with eagerness to welcome Balboa and his retinue when they sailed through the Golden Gate this morning.

Message to the Queen

The festival proper really began last night when Governor Hiram Johnson gave each of a group of fleet-footed couriers a message to deliver by relay to the queen of the festival in San Francisco.

Following the arrival of Balboa, he was escorted through the city with his gallant company in a big military parade. The United States army and navy, the National Guard and the naval militia took part in this parade. The Queen of the festival appointed Bal-

THE TUBERCULOSIS DEATH ROLL NOW BEING GREATLY REDUCED

(Union Associated Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Recent progress in the world fight against tuberculosis will be set forth clearly during the 11th International Anti-Tuberculosis Conference which began here today. The delegates represent twenty-eight nations, and although no "cure" for tuberculosis is expected to be reported, encouraging progress will be recorded toward the control of the disease by natural restoration means, food and fresh air, and by modern methods of sanitation, disinfection and isolation. Aside from the social and business sessions, the program shows reports and discussions under the general topics of "Tuberculosis and Mankind," "The Surgical Treatment of Tuberculosis," "The Role Played by Life Insurance in the Struggle against Tuberculosis," "Professional Schools for Children Predisposed to Consumption," and an afternoon devoted to miscellaneous topics.

American delegates are expected to contribute largely to the program, the United States being admittedly in the lead in many respects in the successful handling of tuberculosis problems.

WESTERN GOVERNORS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 22.—At the invitation of Gov. Hodges, most of the governors of states west of the Mississippi river are here attending a conference on state and national legislation.

Governor Hodges is anxious to have the governors decide on the various problems which are now confronting the Western states, both in state and national legislation, and appoint a special representative of the governors to appear before the national committee in Washington.

A GREAT VARIETY OF CROPS IS PLANNED

Nothing succeeds like success. Again Arizona leads the United States in the percentage of crop prospects. The great record of September when Arizona headed all states with 114.3 as the general condition of all crops, is exceeded by the October report just at hand. This report gives the lead to Arizona again with a percentage of 116.4. This speaks well of the agricultural methods in the new state. There is much to be gained from a perusal of the reports issued by the Department of Agriculture and a study of the data supplied has again evidenced the superiority of irrigated agriculture. The success of irrigation is assured and with the encouragement which all thinking minds are giving to storage problems and pumping methods a new day in agriculture in Arizona is quickly dawning.

The farmers in the Yuma and Salt River valleys are indeed to be envied.

A study of the irrigation systems shows the care with which all details have been worked out, and the development of electrical energy from ten Roosevelt project will in the near future bring a big revenue to the project which will not only pay for the upkeep, but, in addition, give to the land owner a return from his investment in the shape of dividends from the power plants. In every way the future prosperity of the farmer and water user has been considered. The economical use of water, the development of cheap pumping system and the proper application of conservation methods are going to work wonders.

If the new state can this early in the agricultural game attain the high watermark which is shown by its present position of leader, as shown in the crop report just issued, it speaks well for the future. With Egyptian long staple cotton, early citrus fruits, unequalled crops of alfalfa, the immense dairying possibilities, the enormous ostrich feather output the splendid opportunities, in all agricultural lines there is an assured position for Arizona.

BROADMINDED MEN NEEDED EVERYWHERE

If you are a good citizen and find that knocking around you to be sidetracked, get back on the main line; knocking benefits no one and makes hard feeling among friends that may take years to change.

No two people see alike, and we must be broad-minded if we would achieve results in our daily work.

It is just as true in Yuma today as it ever was, that in order to benefit your town and your community, a united front must be maintained in the boosting line. Most citizens can only see one side, and that side is the little petty squabbles that exist in every hamlet in the world. They don't seem to notice the many improvements for better that their town is continually making, but seem to take it for granted that that is only their due and justly coming to them, without so much as a word of encouragement to those men and women who bring about these improvements.

But they do seem to think it is their privilege and duty to criticize and magnify every little error of judgment on the part of their official and fellow citizens. Criticism may be their privilege, all right, but is it very good business.

W. A. Smith, colonization agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, with headquarters in Los Angeles, was in Yuma yesterday investigating conditions here.
